ALMA MATER

*By lofty elm trees shaded round,
Tioughnioga near,
Our grand old Cortland College stands,
To all of us how dear!
We'll sing to thee, dear Alma Mater,
Of love that shall never die,
We'll strive for thy glory eternal,
Keep thy stainless honor high.
Inspiring each son and each daughter
The noblest aims to try,
All thy fame and thy spirit,
Thy might are ours
As the swift years hurry by.*

ACADEMIC HERALDRY

As an occasion meant to be both joyful and solemn, Commencement lends itself to the pageantry of an academic procession which has its roots in medieval times. The gown and hoods worn by faculty members, candidates for graduation and platform dignitaries distinguish the institution from which the wearer was or will be graduated, the level of the degree earned and the field of learning.

In 1895, American colleges established a standard code of academic dress, specifying three types of gowns. The gown for the bachelor's degree has pointed sleeves, the gown for the master's degree has an oblong sleeve with the front part cut in an arc, and the gown for the doctor's degree has bell-shaped sleeves. The doctor's gown also is trimmed in velvet. The hood's inner lining, which folds out at the back and center, indicates the colors of the institution granting the degree, while the border, which comes around to the front of the neck, represents the field of learning.

The black mortar board cap is quite standard. Its only distinguishing feature is a gold tassel worn by the holder of the doctor's degree. At today's ceremony, those who will be graduating with honors will be noticeable by the color of the tassels on their caps—red for summa cum laude, white and red for magna cum laude and cum laude.

THE MACE

The mace is a ceremonial staff used as a symbol of authority. The mace bearer precedes the platform party and places the mace on a special stand where it remains while the official proceedings of Commencement are under way. Cortland's mace, the "Torch of Learning," is made of silver and rosewood and was created by silver-smith John Marshall.

THE GONFALONS

The three bright banners carried in the academic procession are called gonfalons. The gonfalon in red, white, black and grey represents the College, while the gonfalon in shades of peach and green represents the School of Professional Studies and the gonfalon in shades of blue, grey and burgundy represents the School of Arts and Sciences. The gonfalons were designed by Libby Kowalski, professor of art and art history, and Kathy Maher, a 1984 Cortland graduate. The standards were made by Bard Prentiss, associate professor of art and art history emeritus, and J. Eric Kroot, a student. Materials were provided by the Gilbert and Mary Cahill Foundation and Rozanne M. Brooks, Distinguished Teaching Professor of Sociology/Anthropology Emerita.

THE MUSIC

The Processional and Recessional at today's ceremony were pre-recorded by Associate Professor of Music Stephen B. Wilson on the Link Theatre Organ which is housed in the Ralph Adams Brown Auditorium in Old Main. The organ, a sophisticated instrument capable of producing the sound of a whole orchestra, was built in 1924 by Link Piano of Binghamton for the Haltnorth Theatre of Cleveland, Ohio. It was given to SUNY Cortland in 1989 by the family of the late inventor and philanthropist Edwin A. Link, Jr.

HONORARY DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS

On March 26, 1971 the life of 20-year-old U.S. Army private William Albert Demby, a former scholastic basketball and track star in Centerville, MD, changed forever. He was behind the wheel of a military truck in Quang Tri, Vietnam, when an enemy rocket pierced through the door. Demby lost both his legs below the knees.

"My first thought when I realized I lost my legs was about my mother telling me that I was always in the wrong place at the wrong time," recalled Demby, who was rushed by medivac helicopter to an evacuation hospital. "Then I thought I would never play basketball again and I wondered how my family would handle it when I returned home without legs."

Demby spent a year in rehabilitation and treatment at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D.C. While there, he met his wife, Toni, who worked in the Hospital's Education Branch. They married in 1976 and have a daughter, Krishawn. But Demby's life after his hospital release became "four to five years of hell."

"I guess I was feeling sorry for myself," said Demby, who before Vietnam worked making Sears batteries in his hometown of Price, MD. "I turned to alcohol and drugs. It was a very difficult time for me."

With his wife's help, Demby recovered and went back to school. He earned an associate's degree from Prince George's Community College in Maryland. He began counseling disabled people, in particularly, children. Meanwhile, his love for athletics and the fortune this time of being in the right spot at the right time would soon provide Demby with a new status and a national audience.

Using artificial legs, Demby began to play sports again.

In 1984, he became one of the original testers of an artificial limb called the "Seattle Foot," developed by Dr. Eugene M.

Burgess for the U.S. Veterans Administration. Constructed from a special resin, the flexible limb recoiled like a muscle — storing and releasing energy as would a normal foot — thereby allowing Demby to return to the basketball court.

In 1987, at a basketball tournament in Nashville sponsored by the U.S. Amputee Athletic Association, Demby was invited to audition for a national Du Pont television ad. He and four other disabled men wearing prostheses played basketball as advertising agency representatives looked on. After formal interviews, the normally shy and soft-spoken Demby was selected to star in the ad.

The agency's camera crews went to an outdoor court on New York City's Columbus Avenue between 76th and 77th Streets. For hours, Demby spun and sliced toward the basket and shot the ball over neighborhood players in pick-up games.

A month later, the award-winning 30-second ad appeared on national television with the following dialogue: "When Bill Demby was in Vietnam, he dreamed of coming home and playing a little basketball — a dream that all but died when he lost his legs to a Vietcong rocket. But then researchers discovered that a Du Pont plastic could make truly lifelike artificial limbs. Now Bill's back and some say he hasn't lost a step."

Demby, already a hero to those who knew him, became an overnight inspiration to an entire country. Most notably, he turned his celebrity status outward to help other disabled individuals as a coach, teacher and speaker. At the same, he helped to educate able-bodied persons on the concerns of the disabled.

A certified ski instructor in the National Handicapped Sports and Recreation Association's "Learn to Ski" program, Demby hosts clinics nationally each winter for people with disabilities. He accepted a U.S. Amputee Athletic Association (USAAA) invitation to compete for a spot on a wheelchair basketball squad. Demby soon began competing in wheelchair track and field sports, racing in marathons and 10 kilometer events. In field events, he holds the national amputee record in the shot put, discus, and javelin.

Demby competed with the USAAA team in the 1988 Paralympics in Seoul, Korea, where he placed fourth in the shot put and fifth in the javelin and discus events.

Demby, who resides with his family in Hyattsville, MD, is a part-time counselor with the Howard County (MD) "disAbility Awareness Project." In that role, Demby talks with children from kindergarten through high school and allows them a first-hand opportunity to learn about the world of the disabled. He also travels around the country lecturing about disabled issues to colleges and corporations.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars awarded Demby its 1988 Gold Medal of Merit. In 1989, he was presented with the Presidential Victory Award at the White House and was also inducted that same year into the Handicapped Hall of Fame. In 1990, Demby was named the Outstanding Disabled Veteran by the Disabled American Veterans organization. He was also named a Healthy Fitness Leader.
